DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-27 have been examined.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1-10, 12-24 and 26-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Bommareddy et al. (hereinafter Bommareddy) US Patent Number 6,880,089.

As per claims 1 and 16:

Bommareddy a self-cleansing system comprising:

- a) at least two subsystems, said at least two subsystems including an active subsystem and at least one available inactive subsystem; (col. 15, lines 66-67)
- b) a communications link connecting said at least two subsystems; (figure 8)

c) a local network capable of connecting said at least two subsystems to an external network; (figure 8)

d) an arbitration mechanism capable of designating one of said at least one available inactive subsystem to be a designated active system; (figure 8)

e) an IP address shared by at least said active subsystem and said designated active subsystem, only said active subsystem utilizing said IP address to output information to said external network; (col. 16, lines 4-13)

f) a transfer mechanism capable of:

- i) deactivating said active subsystem, causing said active subsystem to become a deactivated subsystem; (col. 19, line 38-col. 22, line 39) and
- ii) activating said designated active subsystem, causing said designated active subsystem to become said active subsystem; (col. 19, line 38-col. 22, line 39) and

g) a self-cleansing mechanism capable of cleansing said deactivated subsystem, causing said deactivated subsystem to become one of said at least one available inactive subsystem. (col. 19, line 38-col. 22, line 39)

As per claims 2 and 17:

Bommareddy further teaches a system wherein said arbitration mechanism uses a criterion to select which of said at least one available inactive subsystem is to be designated said designated active subsystem. (col. 19, line 38-col. 22, line 39)

As per claim 3:

Bommareddy further teaches a system wherein said transfer mechanism is activated by a transfer criterion. (col. 19, line 38-col. 22, line 39)

As per claim 4 and 18:

Bommareddy further teaches a system wherein said transfer criterion is a fault detection criterion. (col. 19, line 38-col. 22, line 39)

As per claims 5 and 19:

Bommareddy further teaches a system wherein said transfer criterion is an intrusion detection criterion. (col. 3, lines 35-37; col. 8, lines 52-60; col. 19, line 38-col. 22, line 39; col. 23, lines 61-67)

As per claim 6 and 20:

Bommareddy further teaches a system wherein said transfer criterion considers time. (col. 19, lines 1-4)

As per claim 7 and 21:

Bommareddy further teaches a system wherein at least two of said at least two subsystems are firewalls. (figure 1)

As per claim 8 and 22:

Bommareddy further teaches a system wherein at least two of said at least two subsystems are servers. (col. 3, lines 26-30)

As per claim 9 and 23:

Bommareddy further teaches a system wherein at least two of said at least two subsystems are gateways. (col. 4, lines 23-30)

As per claim 10 and 24:

Bommareddy further teaches a system further include integrity check capability.
(col. 3, lines 35-37; col. 8, lines 52-60; col. 19, line 38-col. 22, line 39; col. 23, lines 61-67)

As per claim 12 and 26:

Bommareddy further teaches a system wherein said self-cleansing mechanism includes a capability to reboot at least one of said at least two subsystems. (col. 19, line 38-col. 22, line 39)

As per claim 13:

Bommareddy further teaches a system further including shared storage accessible by at least two of said at least two subsystems. (col. 6, lines 36-41)

As per claim 14:

Bommareddy further teaches a system wherein said communications link is part of said local network. (figure 1)

As per claim 15 and 27:

Bommareddy further teaches a system wherein said active subsystem is a plurality of active subsystems. (col. 15, lines 66-67)

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 11 and 25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bommareddy et al. (hereinafter Bommareddy) US Patent Number 6,880,089 in view of Goseva-Popstojanova et al. (hereinafter Goseva) US Publication Number 2003/0033542.

As per claims 11 and 25:

Bommareddy does not explicitly disclose a system including step of auditing said system cleansing actions. Goseva in analogous art, however, discloses a system including step of auditing said system cleansing actions. (page 3, paragraphs 29-31) Therefore it would have been obvious to one ordinary skill in the art to modify the method disclosed by Bommareddy with Goseva in order to have a system that provides an independent examination of records and events to ensure compliance with established procedures. (page 3, paragraph 29; Goseva)
